Analytical Report

Evidence of war crimes and violations of international humanitarian law committed by the Russian Federation during its campaign of military aggression against Ukraine

22 March – 5 April 2022

Russian forces have continued their invasion of Ukraine; shelling and destroying Ukrainian cities, torturing, raping, and killing hundreds of civilians; and forcibly transferring local residents.

During the reporting period, the Armed Forces of the Russian Federation committed the following war crimes and serious violations of international humanitarian law (hereinafter referred to as IHL):

(1) Torture and willful killing; (2) sexual violence; (3) unlawful attacks on civilians; (4) attacks on civilian objects; (5) attacks on specially protected objects; (6) impeding access to humanitarian aid; (7) forcible transfer of civilians; (8) pillage and seizure of property; (9) use of human shields; and (10) attacks that cause severe damage to the natural environment.¹

1) Torture and willful killing

*International criminal law (ICL) and IHL prohibit torture and inhuman treatment of any person, regardless of status, whether civilian or military.*² *ICL and IHL also prohibit attacking or killing civilians.*³ *These two types of war crimes and violations of IHL are analysed in the report. In all cases of torture covered, victims were found dead. Violations of the prohibition on killing civilians, as well as inhuman treatment, constitute serious violations of IHL.*⁴ *Torture and killing constitute war crimes and/or crimes against humanity.*⁵

² Rome Statute of the International Criminal Court of 1998, Article 7.1(f); Article 8.2(a)(ii); Geneva Convention (I) of 1949, Article 12(2); Geneva Convention (II) of 1949, Article 12(2); Geneva Convention (III) of 1949, Article 17, Article 87, Article 89; Geneva Convention (IV) of 1949, Article 32; Rule 90 of customary IHL.

During the reporting period, the Armed Forces of Ukraine regained control over the territory of Kyiv⁶ and Sumy Oblasts⁷ which had been occupied by the Armed Forces of the Russian Federation for several weeks. After the end of the occupation by the Russian Federation, about 400 executed and tortured civilians were found in Kyiv Oblast in Bucha, Hostomel, and Motyzhyn; another 200 people went missing in Borodyanka.⁸ It is also known that there have been persecutions and executions of civilians in Sumy⁹ and Chernihiv¹⁰ Oblasts.

23/03/2022: In Motyzhyn (Kyiv Oblast), Russian troops abducted the village head, Olha Sukhenko, as well as her husband and son.¹¹ After the deoccupation of the village, the bodies of Olha Sukhenko and her son, Oleksandr Sukhenko, were found in a mass grave. The body of Olha’s husband, Ivan Sukhenko, was found in a sewer well with signs of torture.

30/03/2022: The mayor of Irpin (Kyiv Oblast) said that according to preliminary data, up to 300 civilians were killed in the city. Russian troops shot local residents and ran their bodies over with tanks.

31/03/2022: The bodies of two men displaying signs of torture were found in Trostianets (Sumy Oblast).

Killed journalist M. Levin.

01/04/2022: The body of the journalist Max Levin was found in Huta-Mezyhirска (Kyiv Oblast). According to preliminary information, Russian troops shot him with light weapons while he was attempting to document the consequences of Russian aggression.

In Konotop District (Sumy Oblast), Russian troops shot a local resident.

05/04/2022: The head of Sumy Military Administration reported on the discovery of three tortured people in Konotop District.

2) Sexual violence

Rape and other forms of sexual violence constitute war crimes, crimes against humanity, and violations of IHL.

Sexual violence may also amount to torture and/or inhuman treatment, which constitutes a separate war crime and a serious violation of IHL.

During the reporting period, the Prosecutor General's Office reported that Russian troops in Ukraine had sexually assaulted women and men, including children and elderly people. Victims rarely publicly report sexual violence, so few reports of such cases appear in the media.

The Ombudsman of Ukraine reported two cases of women being raped by Russian troops in Kharkiv Oblast. In the first case, a Russian soldier held a bedridden elderly woman hostage for more than a week and repeatedly raped her 29-year-old daughter. He then shot the mother of the raped woman. The latter managed to escape and is now undergoing rehabilitation. In the second case, which took place in Mala Rohan, a Russian soldier repeatedly raped a 31-year-old woman who was hiding in a school with her 5-year-old daughter, mother, sister, and brother, and other residents of the village. Holding a weapon to the woman's head, the Russian soldier repeatedly sexually assaulted her, cut her neck and cheek with a knife, cut her hair, and hit her in the face with a book. When the Russian soldiers left the school, the woman and her family managed to walk on foot to Kharkiv and receive the necessary medical care.

3) Unlawful attacks on civilians

IHL and ICL prohibit both intentional and indiscriminate attacks on civilian populations or against individuals not directly involved in hostilities.

Violation of this prohibition during an international armed conflict constitutes a war crime and a violation of IHL.

During the reporting period, we documented three cases of intentional attacks on civilians trying to leave the combat zone.

24/03/2022: Near Vasylkiv (Kyiv Oblast), Russian forces shelled “Kyiv–Ivano-Frankivsk” Evacuation Train № 43. Windows were smashed in three cars. There were no victims.26

27/03/2022: Between Shevelivka and Husarivka, Izium District (Kharkiv Oblast), Russian forces shelled a civilian car, killing three people, including a three-year-old child.27

30/03/2022: In Lysychansk (Luhansk Oblast), Russian forces shelled an evacuation bus carrying civilians. No one was injured.28

4) Attacks on civilian objects

ICL and IHL establish rules for the general protection of civilian objects and entire cities, towns, dwellings, and buildings which are undefended and which are not military objectives.29 Attacks and other forms of violence against such objects are prohibited in international armed conflict and are considered war crimes and violations of IHL.

International law prohibits both intentional and indiscriminate attacks on civilians and civilian objects. The prohibition includes attacks which are not directed at a specific military objective; attacks which employ a method or means of combat which cannot be directed at a specific military objective or of which the effects cannot be limited and consequently are of a nature to affect military objectives and civilians or civilian objects without distinction; an attack by bombardment by any methods or means which treats as a single military objective a number of clearly separated and distinct military objectives located in a city, town, village, or other area with a concentration of civilians or civilian objects; an attack which may be expected to cause incidental loss of civilian life, injury to civilians, damage to civilian objects, or a combination thereof, which would be excessive in relation to the concrete and direct military advantage anticipated.30

During the reporting period, the Russian Federation shelled with artillery and bombed the eastern and southern regions of Ukraine, including Kharkiv, Donetsk, Luhansk, and 04/04/2022: In Mykolaiv, according to the prosecutor's office, 12 people were killed and 41 injured as a result of an attack by Russian troops. According to the mayor, Russian troops attacked Mykolaiv with prohibited cluster munitions.

05/04/2022: In Kharkiv and the wider region, at least six people were killed and eight more injured by Russian shelling. During the day, Russian troops attacked residential areas of Kharkiv and the Oblast 54 times, including with artillery strikes, mortar and tank shelling, and shelling by multiple-launch rocket systems.

5) Attacks on specially protected objects

According to IHL and ICL standards, civilian objects receive special protection due to their humanitarian significance. Such facilities include hospitals, food warehouses, and installations containing dangerous forces, namely dams.

During the reporting period, the Armed Forces of the Russian Federation attacked at least eight specially protected objects – hospitals, food warehouses, and a dam.

23/03/2022: Near Brovary (Kyiv Oblast), Russian troops shelled warehouses storing vegetables and meat. The Veggie Trend Invest vegetable warehouse and the Vel Meat Invest meat warehouse were destroyed. Dozens of tonnes of products worth about 600 million Hryvnias were destroyed.

25/03/2022: In Mariupol, the Comprehensive Rehabilitation Centre for Children with Disabilities was destroyed as a result Russian shelling.

humanitarian aid. Humanitarian aid personnel and transport are protected under IHL. Actions that create obstacles to the provision of humanitarian aid constitute violations of IHL and can be considered part of the war crime of starvation of civilians.

In addition, IHL obliges the parties to the conflict to remove civilian populations, individual civilians and civilian objects under the control of one of the parties to the conflict from the vicinity of military objectives. The parties to the conflict are obliged to ensure the removal from encircled or besieged areas of wounded, sick, infirm, and aged persons, children, and maternity cases, as well as the passage of ministers of all religions, medical personnel, and medical equipment on their way to such areas.

During the reporting period, there were at least three cases in which the Armed Forces of the Russian Federation deliberately impeded access to humanitarian aid to the needy in Mariupol and Kharkiv; two cases of attacks on humanitarian personnel; and four cases of sabotage of evacuation corridors.

23/03/2022: At the entrance to (Mangush, Donetsk Oblast), Russian troops captured members of a humanitarian convoy. Eleven evacuation buses with drivers and two State Emergency Service vehicles were seized at a Russian checkpoint at the entrance to Mangush and taken away to an unknown location; contact with them has been lost.

28/03/2022: Zaporizhzhia Regional Military Administration reported that Russian forces had impeded the work of humanitarian corridors. Four trucks carrying humanitarian supplies and 22 evacuation buses were blocked by Russian forces and were not able to reach Berdiansk, Vasylivka, or Dniprorudne.

31/03/2022: It became known that in occupied Izium, Russian troops did not allow 20,000 residents who urgently needed evacuation to leave the city for more than 20 days.

At the entrance to Berdiansk, Russian troops blocked more than 30 evacuation buses which were supposed to transport civilians to Zaporizhzhia.

31/03/2022: The Minister for the Temporarily Occupied Territories of Ukraine reported that occupying forces in Mariupol forcibly deported 45,000 locals to the area of Donetsk Oblast which is not controlled by Ukrainian government, as well as to Russia.⁷⁴

According to the Ukrainian ombudsman, during the entire period of Russia's full-scale invasion of Ukraine, the occupying forces deported almost 440,000 civilians, more than 91,000 of them children. In particular, the Russian Army deported more than 98,000 people from Mariupol and 90,000 from Kherson Oblast.⁷⁵

In occupied Dokuchaevsk (Donetsk Oblast), occupying Russian authorities set up a filtration camp. The civilian population is being sent there _en masse_. Documents are confiscated from people. Civilians are also being interrogated by FSB officers searching for Ukrainian soldiers and law enforcement officers. According to Ukrainian intelligence, people are then transported to Russia, in particular to Taganrog (Rostov Oblast) and Krasnodar Krai. The Central Intelligence Agency reported that captured Ukrainians are not provided with medical care or proper food.⁷⁶

8) Pillage and seizure of property

_ICL and IHL protect civilian property from pillage by the parties to an armed conflict._⁷⁷
They also prohibit the destruction and seizure of any property (including personal, collective, and state property) that is not justified by military necessity.⁷⁸

Russian troops loot the homes of locals, shops, and government offices in occupied territories. According to Ukrainian intelligence, in the Belarusian city of Naroulia, Russian soldiers organised a market where they sell looted Ukraine items – washing machines, dishwashers, refrigerators, jewelry, cars, bicycles, motorcycles, dishes, rugs, art, toys, and cosmetics. Russian military trucks are piling up in Mozyr, from which soldiers unload packages with pillaged items. The loot is sent to Russia by the Russian delivery service SDEK.

24/03/2022: In Kherson, Russian troops looted the apartment of activist Kateryna Gandziuk, who was killed in 2018.

2703/2022: It became known that during the occupation of the settlements of the Krasnopillia Territorial Community (Sumy Oblast), Russian troops pillaged a number of educational institutions, taking computers and video cameras, as well as breaking furniture and smashing windows.

31/03/2022: In Chornobyl (Kyiv Oblast), Russian troops occupying Chornobyl Nuclear Power Plant stole computers, kettles, coffee makers, and containers with other property. They also looted a nearby hotel and took kitchenware, forks, spoons, and chinaware.82

05/04/2022: It became known that in Melitopol, Russian troops looted agricultural machinery stores for, taking property worth a total of more than 1.5 million Euros. According to GPS-navigators, the stolen equipment was delivered to Crimea and Chechnya.83

9) Use of human shields

The prohibition on the use of human shields includes the presence and or movement of civilians or other protected persons in order to impede military operations. Violation of this prohibition constitutes a war crime and a serious violation of IHL.84

01/04/2022: It became known that in the village of Novyi Bykiv (Chernihiv Oblast), Russian troops used children as human shields when relocating their military convoys. Russian soldiers took local Ukrainian children hostage and put them in trucks to protect military machinery from attack by the Ukrainian army. They also used children as hostages as a guarantee that the local population would not give the coordinates of the enemy's movements to Ukrainian defenders. According to the Ministry of Defence of Ukraine, such cases were also documented in Sumy, Kyiv, and Zaporizhzhia Oblasts.85

10) Attacks that caused severe damage to the natural environment

The protection of the natural environment is inextricably linked to the protection of the civilian population, as the latter will suffer from the consequences of serious damage to the natural environment. IHL and ICL prohibit attacks that can cause widespread, long-term, and severe damage to the natural environment.86
